CELINE'S DEATHBED VOW TO HUBBY RENE

Celine rushed back to Boston to be with dying hubby Rene after singing with Andrea Bocelli in Las Vegas

WITH her heart breaking, Celine Dion tore herself away from dying husband Rene's side and flew 4,800 miles to fulfill her vow to him that she would be strong and continue to perform.

Tears to the eyes

"I wouldn't let anybody down," she says. "Rene wanted me to be here. He's fighting and working really hard."

Celine and Bocelli brought tears to the eyes of the 1,500 dinner guests at the Keep Memory Alive charity for brain disorder patients when they sang The Prayer.

As soon as the duet was over, Celine changed, zoomed to the airport and flew back to Boston to be with Angelil, 73, father of her sons Rene-Charles, 14, and 4-year-old twins Nelson and Eddy.

She was only away for 12 hours

'HE WANTS ME TO BE STRONG'

after he begged her to be by his side at the end.

Her husband-manager was locked in a last-ditch battle with recurring throat cancer. Surgery has robbed him of his ability to speak, his hearing is damaged from radiation treatments and he's fed through a tube.

Before flying back to Boston, Celine explained, "He wants me to be here" for the gala. "He wants me to be strong."

But he also "wants me back. He wants to see me again - before he goes."

JUST as it looked like Jennifer Aniston was ready to marry again and start raising a family, the Friends legend has called off her wedding to fiancé Justin Theroux – and it's all Goldie Hawn's fault!

Friends are stunned by the sudden turn-about since the couple has been engaged since August 2012!

Aniston, 46, first met Theroux, 43, in 2008 on the Hawaii set of the comic flick, Tropic Thunder. But they didn't hook up until 2011 – and he popped the question on his 41st birthday.

"Justin thought Jen was totally on board when he proposed," says a close source.

But now the Horrible Bosses beauty – who was devastated when her marriage to Brad Pitt crumbled in 2005 after he met Angelina Jolie – has had a change of heart, pals say. She wants to take a page out of Goldie Hawn's domestic playbook.

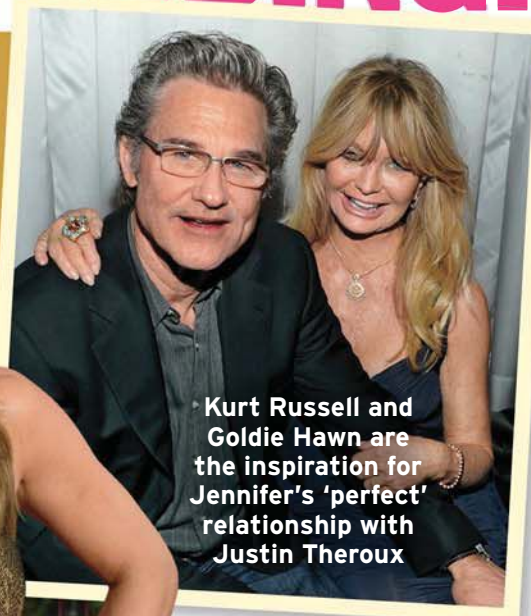

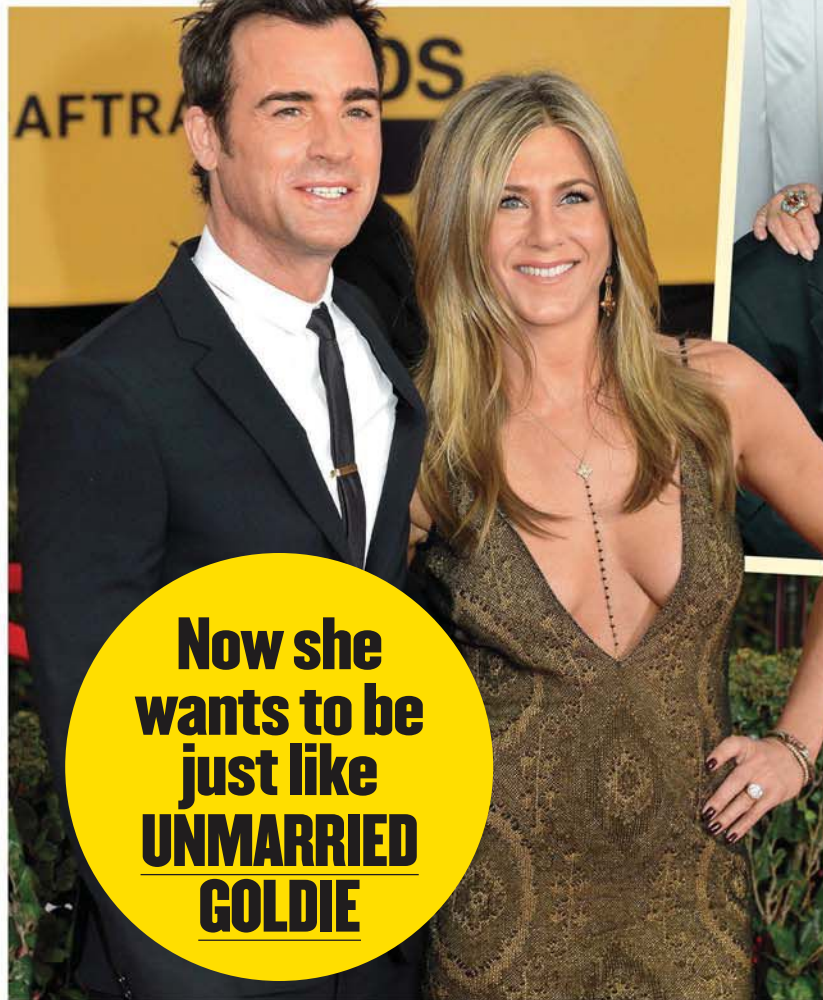

Shining example

Goldie and lover Kurt Russell have been together for 30 years without tying the knot.

"Jen wants her life with Justin to be just like theirs," the insider says. "Jen's totally committed to Justin – but she's decided a wedding ring and a marriage license won't keep them together."

"She holds Goldie up as a shining example of a strong, famous woman who decided decades ago she didn't need to ever get married again."

But Theroux's not on the same page yet, says the insider.

"Now that she's changed her mind, Justin's getting sick of hearing what a great role model Goldie is!" says the source.

Aniston let her feelings be known, when she said, "We are in deep * if our value and worth is dependent on our marital status and if we've procreated."

And Goldie's words about marriage continue to ring in her ears, say sources.

"A lasting relationship isn't about marriage. It's about compatibility and communication," says Goldie, 69, who has daughter Kate, 36, and son Oliver, 38, with ex-husband Bill Hudson, and son Wyatt, 28, with Russell, 64.

The source says Aniston's convinced the Goldie way is the best way, and "now she just has to convince Justin that it's right for him, too!"

FORMER U.S. CONGRESSMAN'S BOMBHELL CHARGES:

JEB PED

REPUBLICAN presidential hopeful Jeb Bush was caught selling drugs and booze to underage kids, but a massive cover-up kept his dirty little secret hidden – until now!

That's the shocking claim made by former GOP Congressman John LeBoutillier in an exclusive interview with GLOBE that blows the lid off the past of the man who's set his sights on becoming the third Bush to serve in the Oval Office.

LeBoutillier, the former New York representative-turned FOX News personality, claims Bush, 62, helped run an illegal drug-and-liquor operation while attending the exclusive prep school Phillips Academy, in Andover, Mass., from 1967 to 1971.

What's more, when he and others were caught by school authorities, LeBoutillier says, "Jeb Bush ratted out someone else to save his own skin."

Another insider predicts the bombshell allegations will destroy the White House ambitions of Bush, who's recently come under fire from his most influential GOP rival, Donald Trump.

"Jeb is toast as a presidential candidate once people hear about this prep school scandal," says a Bush family friend. "This is not going to play well.

"Saying you smoked a little pot is one thing, but actively dealing drugs and booze to underage kids is another."

Harvard-educated LeBoutillier says he heard about Bush's dealing at a 2006 college reunion when he was approached by a classmate who'd attended prep school with Jeb.

Recalls LeBoutillier, "This guy from Andover comes up to me and says, 'I have to tell you what happened when we were at Phillips. Jeb Bush and a couple of other guys ran this illegal drug-and-liquor distributorship.'"

And when they got caught and faced expulsion, the source told LeBoutillier that Bush "ratted out" another student.

Powerful clan

According to LeBoutillier, that student was kicked out of Phillips. Meanwhile, Bush "was never punished and graduated unscathed."

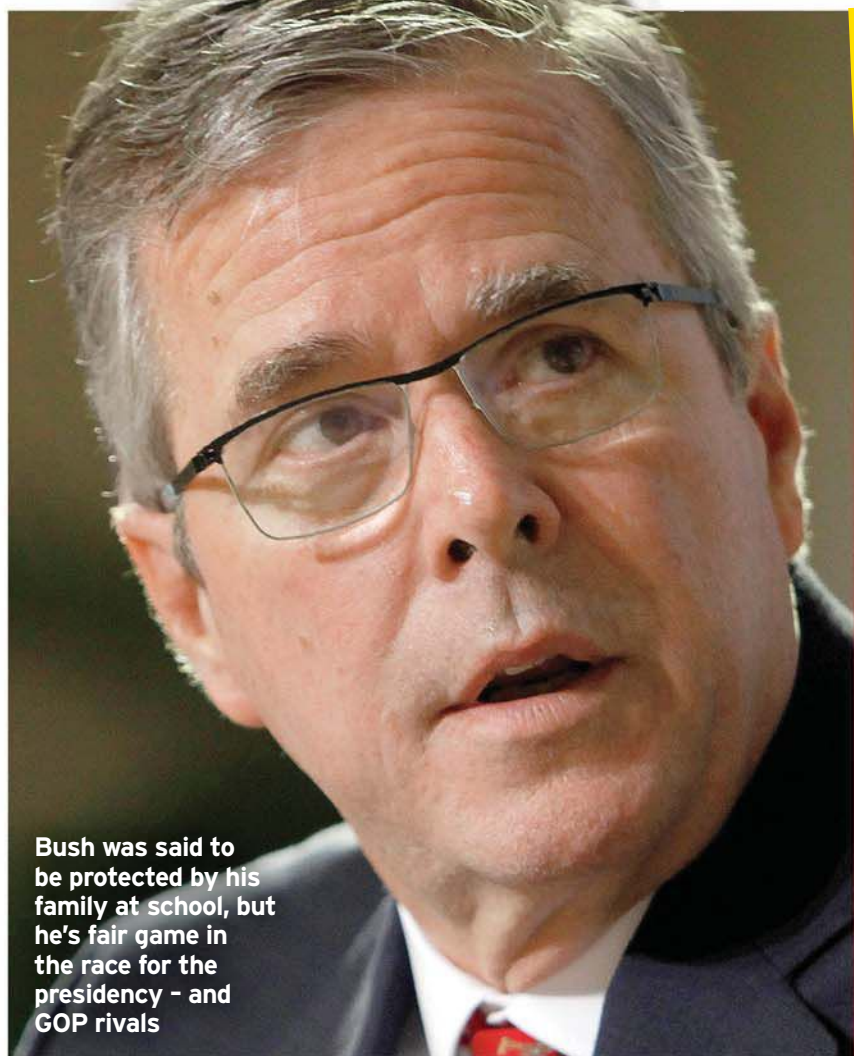

The family friend points out that Jeb's powerful clan circled around him, trying to bury the incident.

"He was always the family favorite – and the one who was supposed to follow his father into the White House," says the source. "You can be sure they knew exactly what was going on

EXCLUSIVE INTERVIEW

Former GOP Congressman John LeBoutillier

Bush was said to be protected by his family at school, but he's fair game in the race for the presidency – and GOP rivals at Phillips and took steps to protect him. The family made sure Jeb's troubles were covered up."

LeBoutillier, who now co-hosts FOX's Political Insiders, says Bush and his pals were not only pushing marijuana but "probably LSD or something like that. Everybody was taking it back then."

"They would get the booze and drugs and sell it to the kids on campus. Everybody was underage."

LeBoutillier adds that at a Harvard reunion in 2011, another one of Bush's prep school classmates "confirmed this drug-and-liquor distributorship was going on. I believe the story's true. He didn't have any motive to make it up."

Author David Margolick investigated LeBoutillier's claims. In a recent Vanity Fair article he wrote yet another Bush classmate described Jeb as a "peripheral" member of the group that ran a booze distributorship. But Margolick was unable to substantiate the claims Bush had also dealt drugs and sold-out a classmate.

Margolick does note that when Jeb was caught drinking, “he was placed on probation rather than kicked out – to some classmates an indication of his powerful family connections, though, according to others, not unusual for a first offense.”

Bush, a former two-term governor of Florida, has acknowledged using drugs while a teenager.

“I drank alcohol and I smoked marijuana when I was at Andover,” Bush says. “It was pretty common.”

Another former classmate, Peter Tibbetts, recalls smoking both pot and hashish with Bush at Phillips.

“The first time I really got stoned was in Jeb’s room,” says Tibbetts. He adds that he also bought hash from Bush but “it wasn’t as if he was a dealer.”

Bush has called his drug use “stupid” and, during his political career, has opposed attempts to legalize marijuana for both recreational and medicinal use.

LeBoutillier insists the scandal deserves a full airing in the campaign because “voters – especially GOP primary voters – have a right to know.”

That could be bad news for Bush.

Allegations

“There is no way the opposition and the press are going to let this slide,” says the insider. “If former students step forward with serious allegations, it will be the end of the Bush dynasty – at least for Jeb’s generation.”

And tough-talking Trump could be the final nail in the coffin.

After announcing his own White House bid on June 16 before a wildly cheering crowd of more than 3,000 supporters, Trump took aim at Jeb and landed a solid political body shot when he observed:

“The last thing we need right now is another Bush!” Says the insider, “Donald Trump is sending a clear message. He is in it to win it – and there’s no place for Jeb to hide!”

TRUMP: 'WE DON'T NEED ANOTHER BUSH!'

MICHELLE OBAMA was royally snubbed when she flew into London with her mother and daughters expecting an audience with Queen Elizabeth.

Instead of an invitation to Buckingham Palace, the First Lady was relegated to a low-key meeting with scandal-scarred Prince Harry.

And in what many view as the latest Royal scandal, Her Majesty went to the horse races without even offering Michelle an invitation to join her!

"Michelle Obama is on the Queen's enemies list," a Palace insider explains.

"When she attended an extravagant reception and banquet with the President in 2009, Michelle sparked an international outrage by putting an arm around the Queen's shoulder!"

"Protocol is everything at the Palace – and this was a huge no-no."

"Making matters worse, at a 2012 pre-Olympics

QUEEN DISSES MICHELLE!

Harry made time for a private visit with Michelle Obama (left). Later in the day, he joined Queen Elizabeth, her husband Prince Philip and Prince Andrew at the Royal Ascot racecourse Royal reception, Michelle deliberately upstaged Prince William's wife, Kate, by wearing a dazzling designer top costing almost $7,000.

"The Duchess of Cambridge, who wore a simple satin coatdress, was furious at the obvious grandstanding. She compared Michelle to Camilla, Prince Charles' evil wife!

"So when Michelle flew to Britain in June, the Queen, who rarely forgives such indiscretions, sent a message saying she was too busy to meet America's First Lady. She added sting to the slap by attending the Royal Ascot meeting, her favorite horse race day!"

Insiders say Michelle was furious.

"She believes that as First Lady of America, she should of meeting pushy First Lady be treated like an equal to Britain's monarch!" says a source.

But Michelle, 51, had to make do with tea with Harry, 30. The red-headed Royal rogue had just been given a dressing-down from Her Majesty after new details of his orgy-fueled trip to Las Vegas were revealed by a dominatrix at the scene!

Harry graciously invited Michelle to meet in his apartment at Kensington Palace, along with her mother, Marian, and daughters Malia, 16 and 14-year-old Sasha. But that meeting was perceived as a poor consolation – and a shocking insult.

GLOBE's insider reveals, "Michelle had thought Britain's Head of State would be eager to greet her.

"But Her Majesty delivered the perfect snub, preferring ponies to the President's wife."

While Queen Elizabeth was cheering the runners and jockeys, Michelle and her family flew out in a sulk to continue their European vacation in Italy.

The last time Michelle was in London with the President, the Queen gave her a personal guided tour of Buckingham Palace, while a horse-drawn carriage was laid on for the girls.

Says the insider, "This time the wife of the Leader of the Free World was made to feel an unwelcome nuisance."

'Michelle Obama is on the Queen's enemies list'

KINKY PRINCE HARRY DESERVES SPANKING!

PRINCE HARRY is tied up in a kinky bondage scandal by a dominatrix who's set to come out with a "whip and tell" book baring steamy details of the red-haired royal's infamous 2012 Las Vegas bash.

Dominatrix Carrie Reichert, 43, author of In the Eye of the Royale Story, says some guests at Harry's naked Sin City billiards party got up to raucous X-rated antics, including bondage.

"Those people there knew what I did as a business," says Carrie, who goes by the stripper name Carrie Royale. "With some of the party guests, there was some spanking."

"Harry wasn't shy about getting naked and what went down – it wasn't just naked billiards going on.

"My book is not just a kiss and tell, it's a whip and tell, although I used other objects that night. Royal fans will be shocked."

"Royals have been doing this stuff behind closed doors for years, and I'm going to open it up to the eyes of the world."

As GLOBE reported at the time, William's little brother returned home in disgrace after being caught on camera in all his glory.

"He was read the riot act by furious William and Kate," says a source. "Lord knows what he's in for now!"

SAVAGE SHARK

KIDS TORN APART in surf 40 years

In a frightening scene eerily reminiscent of the movie Jaws, two teens enjoying a late Sunday afternoon dip in the ocean off Oak Island, N.C., had their arms torn from their bodies in vicious shark attacks!

And just a few days later, a 10-year-old boy was bitten by a shark in Daytona Beach Shores, Fla. – the fourth attack this year in Volusia County.

Bloodthirsty predator

The Florida boy was left with just minor injuries. But the teens in North Carolina weren't so lucky.

"Everybody was screaming, 'Get out of the water!'" says Steve Bouser, who witnessed Kiersten Yow, a 13-year-old North Carolina girl, being mauled by a bloodthirsty predator on June 14.

Less than 90 minutes later and two miles away, Hunter Treschl, 16, of Colorado Springs, Colo., suffered a similar fate that was "like a scene out of Jaws," a source says.

"The first time I saw it was when it was biting my left arm," recalls Treschl. "Then it got that off."

The ill-fated kids were airlifted to Wilmington's New Hanover Regional and live a normal life.”

Ironically, the attacks come almost 40 years to the day after the release of Steven Spielberg's summer blockbuster about a Great White shark terrorizing a coastal community.

Ominously, experts say that shark attacks are on the rise due to increasing numbers of beachgoers and a rebound in the predator's population.

And Volusia County along the east coast of Central Florida has been branded the Shark Bite Capital of the World by the International Shark Attack File at the Florida Museum of Natural History.

“It's amazing, given the billions

Beachgoers in Oak Island, N.C., where the brutal attacks took place on June 14 of hours humans spend in the water, how uncommon attacks are,” notes shark expert George Burress. “But that doesn't make you feel better if you're one of them.”

FIN-TASTIC MOVIE MONSTER WAS NAMED AFTER LAWYER

The mechanical shark's first climactic take was a failure

THE mechanical Great White shark that made millions jump out of their movie seats four decades ago was inspired by a two-legged “predator.”

Director Steven Spielberg named the fin-tastic machine “Bruce,” after his take-no-prisoners lawyer, Bruce Ramer.

But unlike Ramer, at first, his namesake was neither successful - nor terrifying!

In fact, for all the work that went into making the half-ton robot shark, the first take of the dramatic showdown between Jaws and his hunters was a pathetic flop.

When the Great White burst from the ocean to swallow Robert Shaw's cantankerous character, Quint, “Bruce” resembled a dolphin more than a killer shark.

Only after special effects wizards overcame a sea of technical difficulties did the chilling scene actually work.

Producers David Brown and Richard Zanuck were “frightened to death” audiences would avoid the film featuring a “fake shark,” insiders reveal. But they were wrong. Jaws was a record-breaking smash hit!

After a low-key launch, box office receipts for Jaws, which cost around $10.5 million to make, reached $124 million, surpassing The Godfather as the most commercially successful movie in history.

BEAUTY TAMES WILDMAN DALE JR.

NASCAR's most notorious party animal, Dale Earnhardt Jr., has been tamed!

The marriage-shy racer finally got engaged to his girlfriend of six years, Amy Reimann.

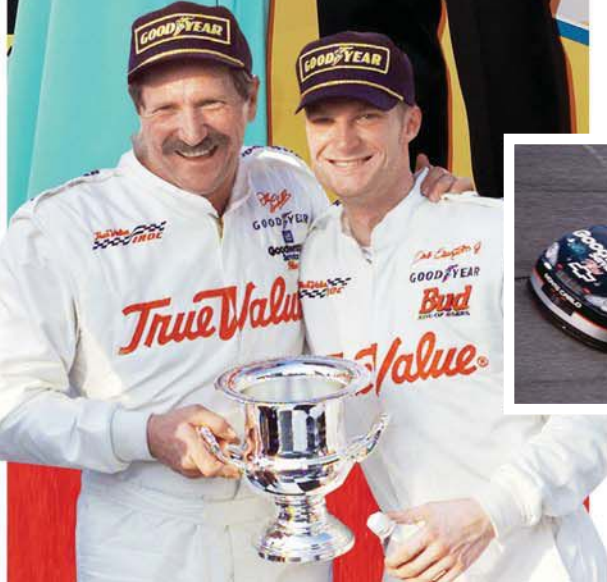

"I never thought we'd live to see the day," a friend tells GLOBE. "While most of Dale's racing buddies are married and have kids, he's said many times he didn't believe he'd ever tie the knot."

Gorgeous model

Pals say they didn't see it coming when Dale first began dating gorgeous model Amy in 2009. At the time, reports surfaced the romance began while Reimann was still married to her former husband, football coach Tommy Cook.

Previously, playboy Dale dated a bevy of beauties, including models Teresa Lanistassi, Leann Tweeden and Marissa Miller.

"We all figured, give this a few months, and there will be some other pretty girl turning Junior's head," says the friend. "But Dale really felt something different with Amy and has gone from being an overgrown frat boy to a responsible adult."

Dale, 40, popped the question to the 33-year-old stunner during a romantic vacation in Germany in mid-June. His upcoming marriage may not be the only impending change in his life. Pals believe he may also retire from the track – at Amy's urging.

"Amy's scared to death every time he gets behind the wheel for a race. She knows his father died on the track," says the source. "She wants to marry Dale and have his kids. Nothing would make her happier than to see him step back, maybe just manage a racing team, so they can have a wonderful life together."

BIG BROTHER's first transgender contestant, Audrey Middleton, was locked up after being busted with drugs in her car!

According to cops, Middleton was found passed out at 4 a.m. in the back seat of a car parked in Buford, Ga.

When lawmen searched her SUV, they found a baggy of marijuana. Confronted with the discovery, cops say a stunned Middleton responded, "I can't believe he left that in there."

She was placed in a pretrial diversion program. Two misdemeanor charges were ultimately dismissed.

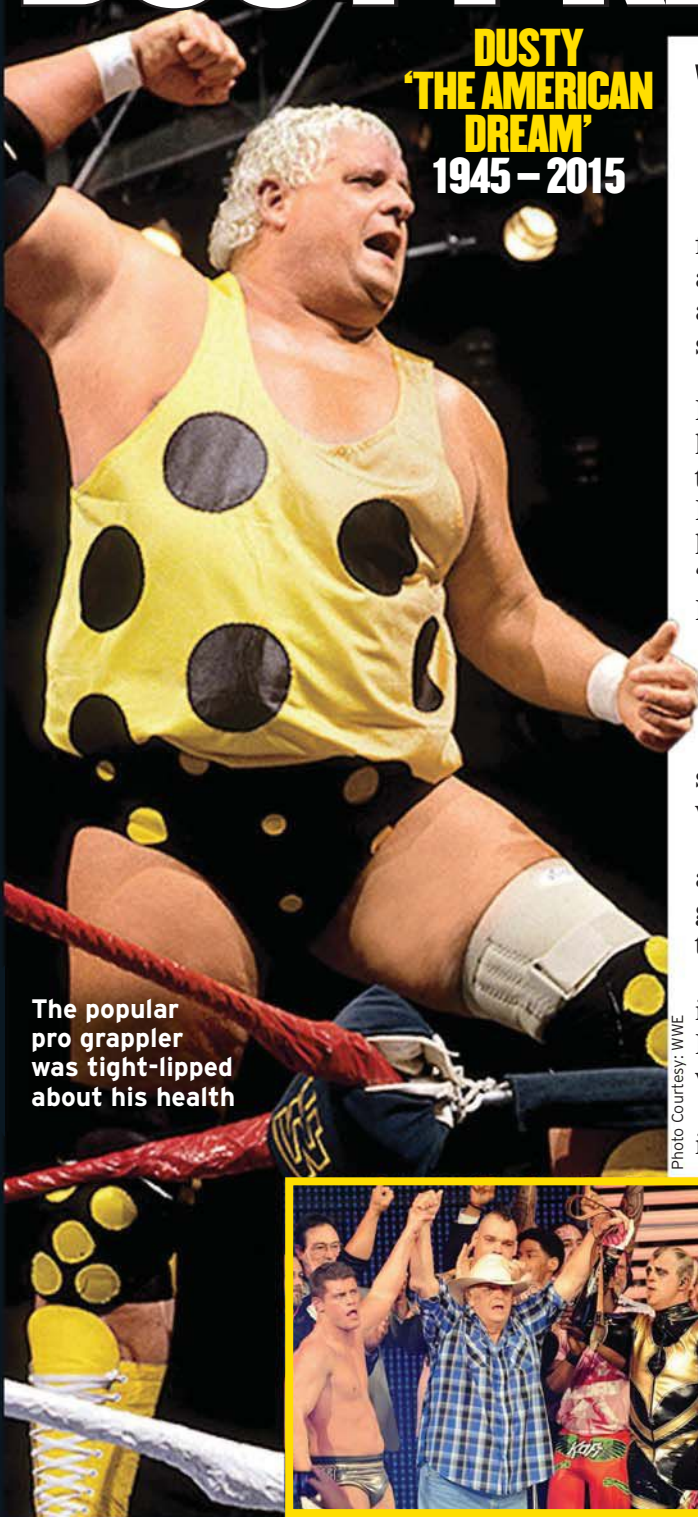

Since CBS revealed the cast of Big Brother's Season 17, the spotlight's been on Middleton, 25, who was formerly known as Adam – and some viewers are sick of it.

The popular pro grappler was tight-lipped about his health

WRESTLING legend Dusty “The American Dream” Rhodes’ shocking death is a mysterious nightmare!

Did the 69-year-old pro grappler die from a fall – or did he lose a secret battle with stomach cancer? The answer is shrouded in mystery

But what is known is Rhodes took a bad fall at his Orlando, Fla., home on the morning of June 10. He was rushed to a nearby hospital, where he suffered “numerous complications.” He became dehydrated, his organs shut down and he tragically died the next day.

Fellow World Wrestling Entertainment (WWE) Hall of Famer Jim Ross says he knew for several weeks there was something wrong with Rhodes.

But Rhodes “didn’t want to talk about it,” adds Ross. “He wanted to go out on his terms, and his style, and that’s what happened.”

Rumors had erupted that the ring icon was battling stomach cancer. Ross notes Rhodes had lost a lot of weight.

“You could see him virtually vanishing before our very eyes,” says Ross.

Another WWE sensation, Jerry Brisco, tells GLOBE he saw Rhodes just five days before his death. During the meeting, Brisco was so concerned he said, “You look like you’re dying – are you OK?”

Rhodes told Brisco his wife, Michelle, was taking good care of him.

“He looked me in the eyes,” recalls Brisco, “and said, ‘I’m doing a lot better. I’ve been battling some issues, but Michelle’s got me eating right. I plan on being here a long time.’”

Cancer

Brisco adds he couldn’t confirm talk about Rhodes suffering from diabetes or stomach cancer.

Rhodes was born Virgil Riley Runnels Jr. in Austin, Texas. A three-time National Wrestling Alliance (NWA) World Heavyweight Champion, he was best known for matches against Ric Flair, Harley Race and other early wrestling stars.

“Dusty made the audience feel for him,” says Ross. “He was a 300-pound baby-face who was so good at the dramatic art of selling that he could make people care.”

Rhodes is survived by second wife Michelle, four children – wrestlers Dustin and Cody and daughters Teil and Kristin – and five grandchildren.

“Dusty was a battler,” says Brisco. “This time he couldn’t battle.”

LESBIAN KILLS D

A SCORNE lesbian flew into a murderous rage and strangled her Virginia Tech classmate during a “date night” that didn’t go the way she’d wanted.

Jessica Michelle Ewing, 24, told a judge she killed Samantha Shrestha after spending hours getting ready for their date and arriving at the gal’s apartment, only to find her wearing casual sweats and a T-shirt.

She said things got worse when she tried to tease Samantha – and called her victim a “spoiled b*.”

But the killer “lost it” when Samantha – who’d moved to the U.S. from Nepal when she was three – dismissed their same-sex fling as nothing more than an “experiment.”

“I loved Sam – I couldn’t believe she would say that I was some experiment to her,” she said. “It’s no excuse. But I couldn’t control it at the time.”

But the Montgomery County Court judge in Christiansburg, Va. showed no sympathy. After hearing that Samantha, who had a boyfriend and was talking marriage, had sealed her fate by rebuffing Ewing’s advances, he slapped the savage fiend with a stiff 45-year sentence.

It was an ugly end to a friendship that began in the fall of 2013.

DEATH

Ewing was obsessed with the pretty 21-year-old student. Her victim’s boyfriend, Scott Masselli, testified he knew the women kissed once, but that’s as far as it went.

On the night of Feb. 7, 2014, Ewing showed up for dinner at Samantha’s Blacksburg, Va., apartment with a bottle of wine and a can of whipped cream, say prosecutors – but everything went fatally wrong.

VICTIM

Samantha Shrestha was strangled to death after telling a lesbian pal she had merely been 'experimenting' to help her get away with the murder.

Keifer Kyle Brown, 24, helped remove incriminating items from Ewing's apartment, but refused to go along with Ewing's sick plan to dispose of the body by torching it.

Ewing even penned a damning journal entry blasting Brown. "Some friend," she wrote. "He  won't even help me move a goddamn body."

In February, Brown pleaded guilty to an accessory after the fact charge and was given a 12-month prison term, with all but 28 days suspended.

Unusual plea deal

At Ewing's June 1 sentencing, prosecutors called for a maximum life sentence. She'd taken an unusual plea deal that meant she could maintain her innocence while accepting the prosecution could prove her guilt.

Still, Judge Robert Turk threw the book at Ewing, sentencing the lesbian predator to 80 years for first-degree murder and five years for transporting and concealing a body.

He ordered her to serve at least 45 years.

"Your actions that night created a nightmare that will never end for everyone in this courtroom," Turk told Ewing. "For that, there has to be justice."

Samantha repeatedly exchanged texts with her boyfriend while Ewing was there. She sent the last one at 12:28 a.m., but was never heard from again.

Family members reported her missing along with her 2004 Mercedes C320, which was found on a Blacksburg street three days later.

Samantha's naked body was found inside a sleeping bag on the rear seat - she'd been brutally battered and strangled to death with a ligature, according to the autopsy report.

Virginia Tech's president, Dr. Charles Steger, said, "Everyone within this community feels this pain."

DEADLY DIVORCE!

CHEATING mom Jessica Smith flew into a murderous frenzy after her hubby dumped her, drowning their 2-year-old girl and slashing the throat of their other daughter, cops say.

Police describe the rented room in the Oregon resort where little Isabella was found dead and her 13-year-old sister, Alana, barely alive with razor gashes in her neck as a slaughterhouse. Said Cannon Beach Police Chief Jason Schermerhorn, "There was blood throughout the room."

Death sentence

Luckily, Alana survived. But her mom, 41, a former nursing assistant, is being held without bail as she awaits her murder trial scheduled for June 2016. She faces a possible death sentence, if convicted.

Jessica has pleaded not guilty. Her lawyers claim she was in a "disordered mental state" during the Aug. 1, 2014, attack.

The horror came just four months after husband Greg Smith, a health systems radiology manager, moved out of their Goldendale, Wash., home telling Jessica – who'd cheated on him – that he was seeing someone.

Court documents reveal their marriage had been "under strain" due to an affair Jessica had four years after their 1996 wedding. The couple also fought over custody of their kids after they split.

Jessica and the girls moved to a Vancouver apartment. Then in June, after Greg filed for divorce, she appeared to go over the edge.

Cops say he'd received "a barrage of texts" from her over a five-day period just before the killing. She also sent a rambling 15 page letter to his colleagues at work blasting her "horrible marriage."

When he was due to pick up the girls, Jessica fled. But she checked into the upscale Surfsand Resort in Cannon Beach.

The twisted mom sedated Isabella with an over-the-counter antihistamine before drowning her in the bathtub, police charge. She reportedly left a note saying the tot "didn't suffer."

She dosed Alana with a sleeping agent, smeared a numbing compound on her neck and slashed the teen's throat, say documents.

Two days after housekeepers found the girls, Jessica was arrested on a logging road 15 miles away.

Her brother, Nathan Judd, was shocked by the bust saying, "I can't imagine that my sister would ever do something like that. She had a heart of gold."

JOHN STAMOS is a hypocritical ass!
If you recall, I labeled him a loser before in this column and some of you wrote in and actually doubted me.

Well, guess what? Stamos has gone out of his way to show everyone I was right.

The 51-year-old Full House has-been, turned wannabe Beach Boy, turned yogurt pitchman has turned out to be nothing more than another loser busted for DUI.

Stinkin' Stamos, who would want you to believe he's the All-American guy, was popped after Beverly Hills cops received calls around 7:45 p.m. about a possible drunken driver.

Police pulled him over and became so concerned about his condition, they had him taken to the hospital, where it was determined he was drunk. He was charged with Driving Under the Influence.

It apparently was his first DUI bust. But I don't want to hear from the whiners who say everyone is entitled to a mistake.

As far as I'm concerned there is no excuse for driving while boozed out of your mind.

According to Mothers Against Drunk Driving:

■ About 28 people in the U.S. die as a result of drunk driving crashes every day.

■ Each day, people drive drunk almost 300,000 times, but fewer than 4,000 are arrested.

■ An average drunk driver has driven impaired 80 times before his/her first arrest.

And just four days before his arrest, Stamos was on Twitter saying everything should be

BIG MONEY WOES FOR LITTLE HOUSE MELISSA!

DROWNING in tax debts, Melissa Gilbert is downsizing to a little log house in Michigan!

The former Little House on the Prairie star owes a whopping $360,000 to Uncle Sam, which she blames on the bad economy, her divorce and a sputtering acting career. On top of that, the State of California has filed $112,527 in tax liens against her.

"Like so many people, the recession hit me hard," the 51-year-old actress moans. "That, plus a divorce and dearth of acting opportunities the last few years created the perfect storm of financial difficulty for me."

Gilbert split from actor hubby Bruce Boxleitner after 16 years of marriage and their divorce was finalized in 2012. She's now wed to former West Wing and thirtysomething star Timothy Busfield, whose career hasn't exactly been skyrocketing lately. But both recently guest-starred on the NBC series The Night Shift.

Still, the couple and the two youngest of their combined five children are pulling up stakes from their three-bedroom Victorian house in Howell, Mich., and heading out to what Gilbert calls "our own Little House in the Big Woods."

And the debt-ridden actress – who played plucky Laura Ingalls on "Prairie" – vows to make good on what she owes.

"I've set up an installment plan to fully pay off my debt and will continue to work as hard as I can to dig myself out of this hole," she says. "I am absolutely positive I can do it."

At least she hasn't been stiffing their landlord, Brenda Korth. "If they've been having financial problems, that's not known to me," says Korth. "The rent's always paid on time. They've been great tenants."

ROSIE PEREZ REVEALS LESBIAN CRUSH!

ROSIE PEREZ finally got over the "hump" of a same-sex relationship when she was a teen!

The View co-host opened up during an appearance at TrevorLIVE, a fundraiser for a crisis intervention program that helps LGBT youth.

Rosie revealed she was attracted to a girl named Michelle in junior high, saying, "All I wanted to do was hump her.

"I suppressed the urge until Michelle one day started humping on me."

Eventually, the romance cooled and Rosie – who says she's "quasi-straight"

– is now happily married to artist Eric Haze.

WIDOW'S EXPLOSIVE NEW BOOK
RIPS LID OFF CHILLING COVER-UP

DAVID CARRADINE WAS MURDERED!

Kung Fu legend's hanging in hotel closet was staged TO LOOK LIKE KINKY ACCIDENT

EXPLOSIVE new autopsy evidence proves Kung Fu star David Carradine didn't die accidentally during a kinky sex act – he was MURDERED!

The bombshell charge is leveled by the actor's ex-wife Marina Anderson, who rips the lid off the 72-year-old Kill Bill star's death in her updated memoir, David Carradine: The Eye of My Tornado.

Officials in Thailand ruled Carradine, who was found hanging in the closet of his Bangkok hotel room on June 4, 2009, died of autoerotic asphyxiation, the voluntary cut-off of oxygen to boost sexual climax.

But the book contains autopsy findings – including chilling, never-before-seen photos – that prove the star of TV's '70s Kung Fu series was murdered by a serial killer! His death was staged to look like a kinky accident and the crime was covered up by authorities.

"I believe David was murdered," Anderson charges. "There's little doubt in my mind David was strangled from behind and killed."

Her bombshell evidence includes the coroner's ruling that the martial arts star had a broken bone in his neck – and death photos revealed his hair was matted with his blood.

Chicago cop-turned-Hollywood-private-eye Paul Huebl tells GLOBE the blood is key to proving Carradine's death was no accident.

"I've probably seen 50 cases of fatal autoerotic asphyxiations, but NONE of them involved blood," he says.

"Most men die this way accidentally when a ligature presses the neck's carotid

DAVID CARRADINE

Exotic dancers show off their charms in the Bangkok red light district artery, restricts oxygen to the brain and makes them light-headed. They are not into causing themselves pain until they bleed."

The Thai autopsy report Anderson obtained says Carradine was found hanging by a gold rope in the closet with a black shoe lace tied around his manhood.

Autopsy photo of Carradine shows rope mark across his neck where a bone was broken. The shoelace belonged to his killer, says ex-wife Marina. She believes the red mark on his arm was a wound from fighting his attacker

"The end of the tip of the right pharyngeal bone (in his neck) was broken," the report says.

He also had "an abrasive wound at the neck...next to" the bone about 1.5 centimeters wide.

Anderson writes that a source in the L.A. coroner's office told her, "Pressure abrasions are not usually found in those types of cases, but are usually part of strangulation by another party."

As GLOBE previously reported, Anderson believes Carradine may have invited four Thais into his room to party, not realizing they were a gang of thieves.

And at least one was a "lady boy," a transsexual hooker common to Thailand.

In their bid to rob the actor, they strangled him and then staged his death to look like a kinky sex act gone wrong.

Anderson reveals a chilling phone call she got from an insider, who confirmed that Carradine was strangled by a "lady boy."

The caller "explained the 'lady boy' was behind David on the bed (leaving the) mysterious footprint seen on the bed covers," she writes.

"Also, the laces used on David were not his. Did those laces come from one of these people?"

She also believes a three-centimeter "red oval mark on David's left forearm" was a defensive wound. She notes his expensive, vintage Patek Philippe watch was missing from the death scene.

Serial killer

And she found evidence of a serial killer operating in the area.

An American man, slightly older than Carradine, died in Thailand in "eerily similar" circumstances, she says.

"Could they both be victims of the same perpetrator or perpetrators?"

Private eye Huebl believes her theory is sound, saying, "Carradine was 72 years old and possibly impaired by alcohol.

"He would have been easy to take down, with one killer choking him from behind, while the others tied his hands and grabbed his watch.

"The killers then staged the crime scene to make it look like he died in a solo sex act.

"The sophistication of this makes me think it's something these sickos have done before. They may be serial killers, looking for rich and vulnerable marks."

Huebl also blasts Thai authorities for being so slow to investigate the case, saying, "it looks like they were more interested in covering up this crime than solving the case.

"One man's fate doesn't compare with the multibillion-dollar tourist industry Thailand would lose if travelers knew they could get rolled and killed by a vicious band of sadistic killers."

Medical news YOU can use!

EVERYDAY life can be a real pain in the neck – but you can relieve the agony, and even prevent it, with some simple tips, says a top expert.

“Cases of neck pain are absolutely skyrocketing,” Dr. Dean Fishman, a Florida-based chiropractor, tells GLOBE.

Fishman, who coined the term “text neck,” says to prevent problems associated with constantly looking down at smart phones, you should “keep devices at eye level and place your ears over your shoulders, shoulders over the hips, hips over the knees and knees over the ankles for proper spinal alignment.”

Here are other ways to ease neck pain:

1. Don't stay in the same position for too long. Get up and move every hour if you sit at a desk, and do gentle neck rolls to reduce stiffness.
2. Position your computer screen at eye level, use the hands-free function on your mobile devices or wear a head set, and prop up tablets at a 45-degree angle rather than laying them flat.

3. Don't sleep with too many pillows under your head. That reduces the neck's range of motion.

4. Never sleep on your stomach. Lie on your back with a pillow tucked under your knees. If you sleep on your side, hug a pillow to keep the spine aligned.

5. Avoid heavy lifting.
6. Drink lots of water – half your body weight in ounces every day – to flush out inflammatory toxins.

7. Apply a towel-wrapped ice pack to your neck to reduce inflammation.

New leukemia breakthrough

+ THERE's new hope for patients with an incurable form of leukemia! The Food and Drug Administration recently approved a new “breakthrough” medication, called venetoclax, to battle chronic lymphocytic leukemia (CLL) that returns after being in remission. By gaining the “breakthrough” designation, the FDA believes the drug offers “substantial improvement” over existing treatments for the disease, which attacks bone marrow and white blood cells. At present, the 10-year survival rate for CLL patients is about 33 percent.

Diet soda makes you fat!

+ DIET soda isn't so sweet if you're trying to lose weight. A new study shows a link between soft drinks with artificial sweeteners and dangerous belly fat, which is known to contribute to heart disease, cancer and diabetes. Over the course of a decade, diet soda drinkers added an average of 3.16 inches to their waistlines while people who drank regular soda had an average gain of less than an inch. Best bet, try water.

NEW RESEARCH!

DOGS SNIFF OUT CANCER 98% OF THE TIME!

DOGS are proving to be man's best friend yet again - by becoming cancer's worst enemy!

The canines have an uncanny ability to sniff out several different types of cancer with up to 98 percent accuracy.

In one recent British study, specially trained pooches almost unfailingly detected both prostate and thyroid tumors simply by smelling a person's urine.

And U.S. researchers say dogs are equally capable of sensing lung and breast cancer by sniffing people's breath samples.

The best news is dogs can pick up the cancer scent in the very early stages of the disease, when it is most treatable. They do it by detecting

'The capability of dogs...is unbelievable' the "smelly molecules" given off by cancer.

"The capability of dogs to scent minute amounts is unbelievable," notes University of Arkansas for Medical Science researcher Dr. Donald Bodenner. "The medical community over the next few years is going to have a great appreciation for them."

BITTER BRIAN PLOTTING TO WIN BACK HIS JOB!

NBC insiders brace for FEUD WITH HOLT

Brian Williams has voiced support for Lester Holt (above left), but insiders say he's plotting to unseat him

T'S Official! Lyin' Brian Williams has been permanently replaced on NBC's Nightly News by Lester Holt – but insiders expect a bitter feud as the disgraced newsman battles to get his old job back!

“Lester doesn't think for a minute that Brian's going to be satisfied with working on NBC's news cable channel, MSNBC, and, maybe, occasionally doing some reporting for NBC News,” says an insider.

“It puts Lester in the position of looking over his shoulder constantly and worrying about keeping ratings up.

“He knows Brian won't rest until he gets his anchor job back. Brian's doing all the right things: apologizing for his mistakes and publicly supporting Lester. But we're bracing for a down 'n' dirty fight.”

The 56-year-old newsman was suspended without pay from the anchor job he'd held for a decade after he was caught lying about his 2003 coverage of the Iraq War.

He'd been the most-watched nightly news anchor, and just last year signed a $10 million-per-year five-year deal. Sources say NBC would have had to fork over $30 million to make him go away quietly.

After intense negotiations, he was officially dumped from Nightly News and demoted to cable's MSNBC as breaking news anchor.

But insiders say that Williams is secretly plotting to claw back into the “Nightly” anchor spot, while Holt, 56, is equally determined to cling to his position.

Says the insider, “There's a belief that Brian will be gunning for his rival, but Lester won't back down from a fight.”

Williams was embedded with troops in Iraq but lied about his combat experiences

FEARS FOR CHILD STAR LARK!

Jimmy Green (left) and Lark Voorhies wed in April

TROUBLED Saved by the Bell star Lark Voorhies is being urged to dump her new husband, Jimmy Green, a gang member with a seedy criminal past!

The 41-year-old former actress, who played Lisa Turtle on the teen show from 1989 to 1993, wed music engineer Green in April after meeting him on the Internet social site Facebook.

But after his gang past was exposed and he clashed with her mom, family and friends are “concerned she's at risk,” says a source.

“They've told her to seek an annulment...but Lark's not having it.”

Lark's mother, Patricia, obtained a restraining order against Green in early June claiming he verbally attacked her. She also claims Lark is mentally and emotionally fragile – and Green is a member of the L.A. gang the Bloods.

But Green claims he's reformed.

“Whatever happened, it is in my past,” he says. “Lark is changing my life.”

This doll is not a toy, but a fine collectible.

Ashton-Drake unveils extraterrestrial artistry!

It is reported that almost half of all alien encounters in the United States are with the "Roswell Greys," a name originating from the famous Roswell, New Mexico, UFO incident that occurred in 1947.

Based on these paranormal sightings, award-winning special effects artist Anthony Kosar spent months creating a first-of-a-kind Baby Grey affectionately known as Greyson, and he's ultra-realistic enough to win over any non-believer! At 16 inches, he's fully sculpted with four fingers and three toes on each tiny hand and foot. Crafted of soft vinyl and coated with a silky smooth finish, he's then painted by hand. Large black eyes are custom-made to replicate those documented from Roswell. You can pose his jointed arms and legs, and his head pivots to look for intelligent life. He also comes with an out-of-this-world baby blanket that's just what kind Earthlings will need to make him feel right at home!

Grab him before his parents discover he's missing!

Since this amazing baby is a first-of-its-kind, demand is sure to be quick and strong. Greyson is yours for just $99.99*, payable in four installments of $24.99 each. Who cares who's looking?
Richard plunges into a steamy kiss with much-younger Brit in Italy

GETTA ROOM!

RICHARD GERE ROBS THE CRADLE!

SCREEN hunk Richard Gere isn't waiting for his divorce from ex-model Carey Lowell to go through before pouncing on his next conquest, actress Brit Marling – who at 32 is young enough to be his daughter!

Amazingly, the American Gigolo's new Pretty Woman actually played his daughter in the 2012 film Arbitrage!

Still, the pair were canoodling like lovebirds over dinner at a restaurant in Taormina, Italy, on June 16.

"Richard couldn't keep his hands – or his lips – off Brit," says an eyewitness. "They didn't seem to care about the other diners at their table. It was like they were in their own little world!"

"They were openly kissing and only had eyes for each other."

Meanwhile, Gere's bitter $250

Wife Carey Lowell is looking for a $100 million payoff from the hunk million divorce from former Law & Order star Carey Lowell, 54, continued to play out in a New York court.

Lowell – mother of Gere's 15-year-old son Homer – is seeking at least a staggering $100 million from the hunk, 65, who she first hooked up with in 1995.

Ugly split

"It's ugly," one insider said of the split. "And it's only going to get worse."

He's still a big earner, raking in $82 million in 2013 and starring in two flicks, The Second Best Exotic Marigold Hotel and Franny, this year.

Sources say Lowell wanted to stay married, but Gere wanted out – apparently so he could romance new beauties.

He reportedly "humiliated" former Bond girl Lowell by hitting on one of her pals in 2013. His rep denied it.

Last year, he dated sexy Top Chef star Padma Lakshmi, 44.

After the split last October, Gere's notorious roving eye focused in on screen-daughter Marling. A native of Chicago, the brainy economics grad from Georgetown University recently inked a deal with Netflix to produce and star in the hour-long

Gere and Julia Roberts in Pretty Woman

in Arbitrage

drama, OA, which she'll also co-write.

Marling said last year she had no boyfriend, and had always been "proud of my independence and really proud of being self-contained."

But she was far from "self-contained" as she cozied up to her screen daddy over din-din in Italy.

As for his split with his wife, pals say Gere, a noted Buddhist, and Lowell simply had too many differences.

"The Buddhist actor craves privacy, and Lowell likes socializing with other big-wigs," the source says.

THE BEST SOURCE FOR COINS WORLDWIDE™

YOUR HOROSCOPE

For the week of July 6 – July 12

by Emily Hamer-West

ARIES March 21 - April 20

Someone high up is eyeing your performance, and that pay raise you've been working for could be closer than you think, Ram! Your partner's been acting oddly, but before you accuse your sweetie of a crime, ask why. The answer will stun you! Cash and health are linked this weekend.

TAURUS April 21 - May 21

Whoa, there, Bull, don't spill the beans about anything personal while Pluto and the sun squabble on Monday. If you do, it will be all over town in the blink of an eye! Money worries are making you grumpy, but you can quickly raise cash selling unwanted household items at a yard sale or on eBay.

GEMINI May 22 - June 21

Read the instructions before starting anything new - even the simplest project you try could turn into a mess! The moon in Taurus later in the week leads you to reveal your inner self to a potential mate. Drop your mask, Twin, and true love could follow! Look to the number 8 for luck!

CANCER June 22 - July 22

Someone in your life keeps making excuses and leaving you hanging, but why, Crab? It could be time to drop this person once and for all. With the sun in Cancer, your willpower is strong, so start a new habit or drop bad ones. Hit yard sales this weekend for excellent bargains.

LEO July 23 - August 23

Get to work on the project you're dreaming about! When family and friends see your progress, they could decide to pitch in and help. The Aries moon spotlights a window of opportunity for cash gain Wednesday - be sure to look in!

VIRGO August 24 - September 22

Put your calendar to good use early this week, when a little sun-Pluto dustup makes you a wee bit forgetful and you could miss a vital event. Friday's Taurus moon urges you to donate time rather than money when a charity asks for help.

LIBRA September 23 - October 23

Put your financial house in order while the cosmos takes the guesswork out of budgeting and it's easier than ever to make a plan. Make trust your mantra, especially when it comes to your partner. You'll be richly rewarded under Saturday's torrid Taurus moon!

SCORPIO October 24 - November 22

You want to take a stand in a professional relationship and demand what you feel you're owed, but wait until Mercury moves into calm Cancer Wednesday - and even then, think carefully before acting. Don't let someone's bad mood ruin the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS November 23 - December 21

The Cancer sun makes this the week to rid yourself of all those clothes you're hanging onto for "someday." Free yourself now, Archer, or you'll be stuck in the past forever! A blue-eyed stranger holds the key to a happy romance through an invitation for coffee that could lead to much more!

CAPRICORN December 22 - January 20

Your intuition is telling you one thing while your common sense says something different. Which to trust, Goat? Saturn in Scorpio says take time to explore other options before making any big decisions. Go shopping for new shoes and choose comfort rather than style!

AQUARIUS January 21 - February 18

Just because someone makes plans, you don't have to go along with them. It's time to put on your big kid pants and learn to say NO! Use some much-needed alone time to dream about the future - and how to make those dreams reality. Don't overdo it when dining out this weekend!

PISCES February 19 - March 20

You've been swimming in a sea of fun, fun, fun, Fish, but now you need to start taking things more seriously. A Virgo friend could steer you to someone with valuable advice. That chore hanging over your head? Do it early because weekend fun is heading your way! Wear yellow to be seen!

JOHN HURT BATTLING KILLER CANCER!

LEGENDARY actor John Hurt is facing his brave last days after being diagnosed with pancreatic cancer.

While the savage disease is usually a death sentence, the gravel-voiced, 75-year-old star, who played wand salesman Mr. Ollivander in the Harry Potter movies, courageously vows to keep working and battling the killer.

"I have recently been diagnosed with early stage pancreatic cancer," he revealed. "I am undergoing treatment and am more than optimistic about a satisfactory outcome, as, indeed, is the medical team."

But experts say the odds are stacked against Hurt.

"Being diagnosed with any type of cancer is devastating," says a spokesman for the Seena Magowitz Foundation, a pancreatic cancer awareness group.

"Few realize that cancer of the pancreas is the most lethal with poorest prognosis of survival."

The average life expectancy after it spreads is a grim three to six months, says the National Cancer Institute. However, experts note Hurt's early stage pancreatic cancer means the tumor hasn't reached other places in the body. The three main treatments are surgery, chemotherapy and radiation therapy.

Still, friends fear the 1980 star of The Elephant Man may soon follow in the footsteps of the many other celebs who succumbed to the deadly disease including Pernel Roberts, Michael Landon, Patrick Swayze and Bonnie Franklin.

But Hurt, married to fourth wife Anwen, and father of Alexander, 25, and Nicholas, 22, is determined to beat the deadly disease.

"I am continuing to focus on my professional commitments," he says.

Adds a friend, "We are all praying that John can beat this. We know he'll never give up."

CHONG TRYING TO WEED OUT TUMORS!

COMIC Tommy Chong used to smoke pot to get stoned and make funny movies - now he's puffing weed to battle cancer!

The 77-year-old Cheech & Chong star praised pot for helping him beat prostate cancer in 2012 and now is using marijuana-based products to fight rectal cancer.

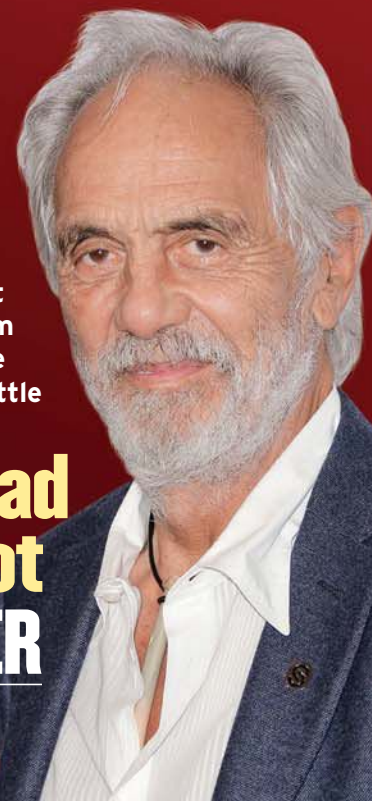

'Using cannabis like crazy'

"I'm treating it with hemp oil, with cannabis," says the Up in Smoke legend, who has six kids from three marriages. "I'm using cannabis like crazy...more so than ever before."

He notes his battle to decriminalize and legalize marijuana "means a lot more to me than just being able to smoke a joint without being arrested."

"I'm taking it as a medicine. Cannabis is a cure. Either I get healed or I don't. But either way, I'm going to make sure I get a little edge off."

MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE FEMME FATALE TURNS BOOK WORM!

Barbara Bain's SURPRISING CRUSADE

MISSION: IMPOSSIBLE's femme fatale Cinnamon Carter keeps going like the Energizer Bunny – even at 83 years old!

Barbara Bain, who played the iconic role on the hit 1960s spy show, is still acting. Last year she portrayed Eve in the movie Silver Skies opposite George Hamilton and Howard Hesseman.

Driving force

But her biggest kick these days is BookPALS, an organization with 2,300 chapters across the country dedicated to inspiring kids to love reading.

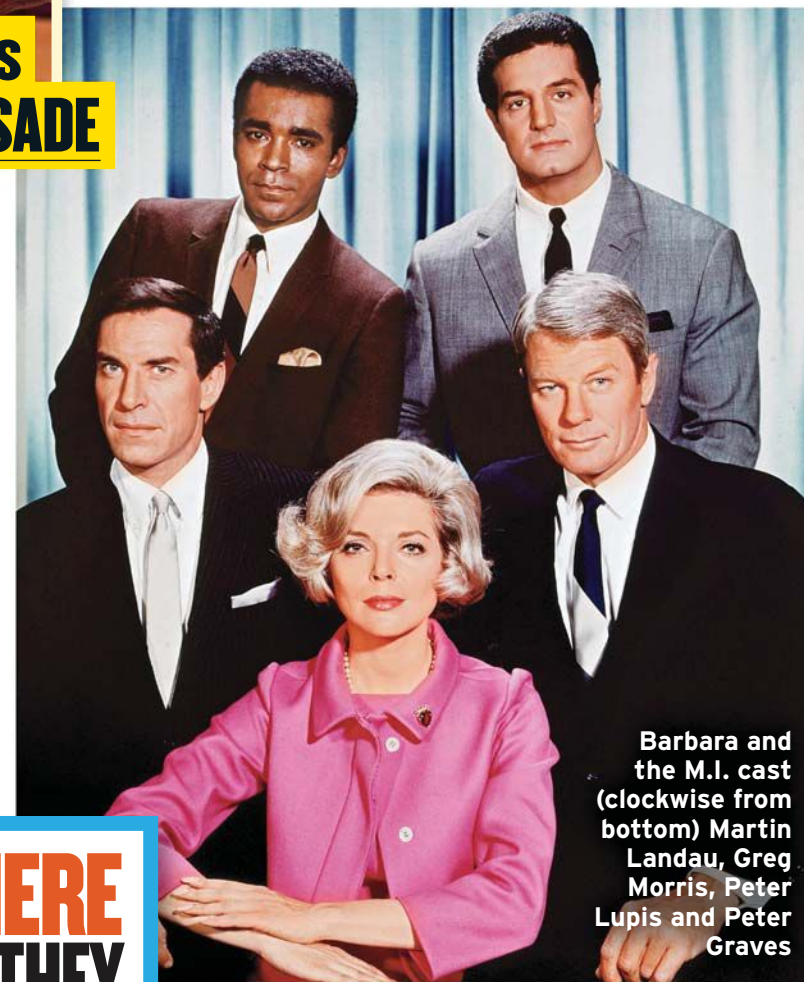

Bain was the driving force behind the group's creation.

"I volunteered in a day care and just started reading to the kids one day as we sat on the lawn," she says.

"They seemed to really enjoy it and were very responsive."

She got the idea to have other volunteers read to children and went to the Screen Actors Guild for help.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Barbara and the M.I. cast (clockwise from bottom) Martin Landau, Greg Morris, Peter Lupis and Peter Graves

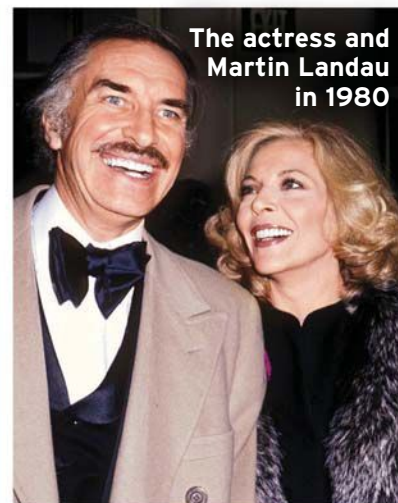

"I thought of all my acting colleagues," she says. "Every one of them has to read well in order to get a role and, of course, actors love an audience."

She enlisted 300 actors to read to youngsters in the Los Angeles area. Soon, the program spread throughout North America.

Bain starred in Mission: Impossible during the show's 1966 to 1969 run. She won three consecutive Emmys for her role as the sexy Impossible Missions Force (IMF) agent, Carter.

She moved on to play Space 1999's Dr. Helena Russell in

The actress and Martin Landau in 1980

47 episodes from 1975 to 1977. Since then, she's had roles in shows including Moonlighting, Murder, She Wrote, Millennium and CSI.

Bain was wed to her "Mission" co-star Martin Landau from 1957 to 1983. She never remarried after the divorce. But she just can't get enough of acting.

"I love it," she says. "The fun and the challenge."

She also teaches at the Actor's Studio and has won acclaim for her stage work. But Barbara remains eternally grateful for her role as Carter, a character that helped inspire a generation of women.

"No question it was a groundbreaking role," she says. "Very few shows at the time depicted strong women characters."

300-LB. BRANDO TURNED CROSS-DRESSER FOR CASH!

Shocking secret TAPES DISCOVERED

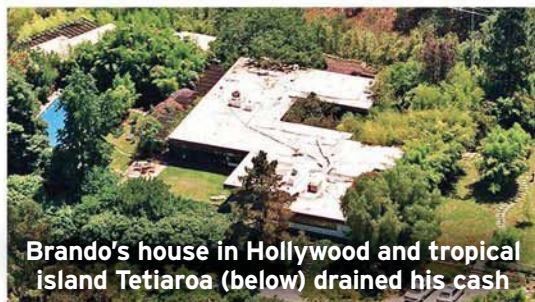

DESPERATE for cash in his final years, obese Marlon Brando conducted an acting workshop where he lumbered onstage dressed in drag!

The Lying for a Living workshop in November 2001 opened with the 300-pound showbiz icon appearing in a blonde wig, blue mascara and a black gown with bodice.

Caught on film

He spouted an improvisational monologue in a female British voice for about 10 minutes as he fussily applied lipstick, then lifted the hem of his gown to expose his massive butt to the crowd of both established stars and wannabes. And all the action was caught on film!

Although Brando's estate was worth $20 million when he died at age 80 in

Brando's house in Hollywood and tropical island Tetiaroa (below) drained his cash

FAT ACTRESS?

This computer generated photo shows how Brando looked at his Lying for a Living acting workshop up with some crazy schemes to rake in bucks, including selling earthquake-proof houses on QVC. But he wound up spending $50,000 to organize and film the acting workshop, figuring he could produce a DVD collection that would make him millions.

"This was going to be his legacy to the acting community," says actor Edward James Olmos, who attended the seminars.

The bizarre 10-day program not only drew stars like Olmos, Robin Williams, and Sean Penn but also performing midgets, a French tightrope walker, a homeless man plucked from the streets and an Osama bin Laden impersonator. It featured cameo appearances by Michael Jackson and Leonardo DiCaprio.

For better or worse, the DVD collection never got made. Brando started to edit the tapes but quickly lost interest in the project and moved on to something else.

Now, the tapes are in the hands of Brando's estate executor, producer Mike Medavoy. And he has no intention of sharing them.

"They're under lock and key," Medavoy says. "Nobody is going to look at them."

2004, upkeep on his Mulholland Drive mansion in L.A. and private Tahitian island of Tetiaroa had left him cash-strapped in the latter years of his life.

Astronaut Wives Club

Thurs., July 9, ABC, 8 p.m.

The drama focuses on the wives of the seven original astronauts who ventured into space in the Mercury program. As their celebrity rises and tragedy begins to touch their lives, they rally together.

JENNER'S STUDLY SON GIVES SEX TIPS

THE son of sex-swapper Caitlyn – formerly known as Bruce – Jenner will be doling out some steamy advice on the small screen when E! launches Sex with Brody July 10.

Based on his popular Internet series, Brody Jenner, 31, fields intimate sex and relationship questions by calling on his personal experience!

Described as a "sex connoisseur" by the cable channel, the handsome hunk from the MTV show The Hills certainly knows what he's talking about. He's dated singer Avril Lavigne, model Jayde Nicole, reality stars Nicole Richie and Paris Hilton, and actresses Lindsay Lohan, Haylie Duff and Kristin Cavallari, to name but a few.

Avril Lavigne

Paris Hilton

Lindsay Lohan

Joined by relationship therapist, Dr. Mike Dow, and actress/comedian Stevie Ryan, he'll interact with audience members and folks on the street about their innermost thoughts about sex and love.

Adding a little more spice, special guests – including singer-actress Christina Milian, Real Housewives beauty Joanna Krupa and model April Rose – give their inside look at the Hollywood take on sex.

Brooding Brody – the son of beauty queen Linda Thompson – is no newcomer to the spotlight.

He hosted the 2008 reality show Bromance, starred in The Princes of Malibu in 2005, and has appeared in several episodes of Keeping Up with the Kardashians, which focuses on his step-sisters, Kim, Khloe and Kourtney.

Meanwhile, you have to wonder if he has any words of wisdom for his newly-minted female father.

TV FACT

The grey suit and the trademark fedora that Don Draper wore in Mad Men will go on permanent exhibit at Smithsonian's Museum of American History, plus his much-used office bar cart.

BETH HALL (Weeping Wendy) promoted to series regular for Mom's third season...Game of Thrones star Iain Glen to headline Australian series Cleverman... Investigation Discovery greenlights Death by Gossip reality show hosted by Wendy Williams...Absolutely Fabulous being turned into a movie...Netflix to produce new season of Arrested Development... A&E cancels swinger reality show Neighbors with Benefits.

TV NEWS EXTRA

STARS ARE RUNNING WILD

MODERN FAMILY's Jesse Tyler Ferguson and movie beauty Kate Hudson, are set to show off their survivor skills this summer on the second season of NBC's Running Wild with Bear Grylls.

Fast & Furious actress Michelle Rodriguez, Titanic's Kate Winslet, The Hangover's Ed Helms and X-Men's James Marsden will also show their mettle when the series debuts July 13 on NBC.

The actors, along with New Orleans Saints quarterback

Drew Brees, have to survive the Panama jungle, the Italian Alps, the Rocky Mountains, and some of the world's most grueling wildernesses.

Says British adventurer Grylls, "We get to see the stars we love in a totally authentic way as they face a few demons and come through it stronger. And that's the beating heart of 'Running Wild.' "

- 1 Which legendary quarterback guest-starred on The Brady Bunch?
- 2 What was the setting for China Beach?
- 3 Who starred as McMillan & Wife?

ANSWERS

1. Joe Namath
2. An evacuation hospital during the Vietnam War.
3. Rock Hudson and Susan Saint James

OLYMPIC gymnast Gabby Douglas is starring in her own reality show at just 19, three years after creating history by becoming the first African-American to win the individual all-around gold medal at the summer games.

Douglas Family Gold follows the determined athlete as she prepares to defend her title in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in the 2016 Olympic Games.

We'll see her dedicated family - including Olympic hopeful brother John, sisters Arie and Joy, and "momager" Natalie - shuttle between California and Ohio to support Gabby's training regimen.

Last year Lifetime aired the TV movie, The Gabby Douglas Story, with Regina King as Natalie and two actresses, Sydney Mikayla and Imani Hakim, playing Gabby at different ages.

RACE SCANDAL FAKER'S SEX TAPE BOMBSHELL!

DISGRACED and discredited Rachel Dolezal, a white woman who posed as black, is now tangled in a shocking sex tape scandal.

The 37-year-old blue-eyed blonde, who darkened her skin and got an Afro hairdo while working on behalf of a civil rights organization, said she was forced to make a kinky sex tape by her former husband, Kevin Moore.

'Forcible restraint'

Dolezal, who was married to Moore from 2000 to 2005, revealed the tape's existence in court papers during her divorce and custody battle.

She said the video was "made at the request of Moore," who "required" her to "participate in sexual acts" against her wishes.

She also claimed to have endured years of "physical, emotional, sexual and verbal abuse" including "pushing, hair pulling and forcible restraint" by her husband.

Moore denied her claims and the Idaho court awarded the estranged pair joint custody of son Franklin, now 13. But the sizzling sex tape scandal erupted again after Dolezal's claims of being African-American were blown sky high by her white parents in Montana.

Dolezal had attended historically black Howard University in Washington, D.C., and then moved to Spokane, Wash., where she dyed her skin with tanning spray. She claimed she was black and became president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP).

She has since been forced to resign, but still claims, "I am definitely not white."

Now, in addition to the kinky video, she's revealed that she's also bisexual.

"I've dated men and women," she says.

Head prosecutor Marcia Clark should be flattered to be represented by American Horror Story beauty Sarah Paulson. After losing the Simpson case, Clark quit law in 1997 to become an author and TV personality.

ROBERT SHAPIRO

John Travolta stars on TV for the first time since Welcome Back Kotter in 1979 as Dream Team captain Robert Shapiro. The L.A. lawyer, whose celebrity client list included baseball slugger Jose Conesco, the late Johnny Carson and porn legend Linda Lovelace, was the go-to mouthpiece for celebs in trouble.

NICOLE BROWN SIMPSON

Little-known actress Kelly Dowdle is almost the mirror image of tragic Nicole Brown Simpson, who was so savagely attacked with a knife that she was almost completely decapitated.

ROBERT KARDASHIAN

Friends' David Schwimmer is taking on his first TV role in four years to play O.J.'s good pal, the late lawyer Robert Kardashian, who put up the accused in his home following the murders. Kardashian, who spawned a reality TV clan, later served on Simpson's Dream Team.

LOOK-ALIKE

A NEW real-life crime series on FX is kicking off with The People vs. O.J. Simpson, using top actors to tell the story of the fallen football hero. O.J. cheated justice and was acquitted of the 1995 murders of his ex-wife, Nicole Brown Simpson, and her friend, Ron Goldman.

Nicole and Ron were found in pools of blood on June 12, 1994, brutally murdered outside her Brentwood, Calif., home. Cops soon had The Juice squarely in their sights.

Now, the new series American Crime Story will focus on the real-life televised murder trial that gripped the nation.

All involved in the proceedings - from prosecutor Marcia Clark, to defense attorney Johnnie Cochran, to Judge Lance Ito - became as familiar as favorite soap stars.

The 10-part miniseries, which is now in production, features look-alike stars as the key players. Here's a sneak peek.

JOHNNIE COCHRAN

Remarkable Johnnie Cochran look-alike Courtney B. Vance of Law & Order: Criminal Intent fame is Simpson's slick lawyer. When O.J. couldn't squeeze his hands into the killer's gloves, Cochran came up with the famous phrase, "If it doesn't fit, you must acquit." He died of a brain tumor in 2005.

JUDGE LANCE ITO

Wolf of Wall Street and Sons of Anarchy actor Kenneth Choi will be sitting on the bench as Judge Lance Ito, who was accused of losing all control of the trial. Still an active judge, Ito's one of the few key players not to cash in with a book.

O.J. SIMPSON

Athletic Jerry Maguire hunk Cuba Gooding Jr., can pull off the famous Simpson smirk. The gridiron great, who is now in prison for kidnapping and armed robbery, grinned from ear to ear when he beat the murder rap. But O.J. was later found liable for the wrongful deaths of Nicole and Ron in a civil trial.

FLASHBACK

GIRL CRAZY

THE Three Stooges (from left), LARRY FINE, CURLY HOWARD and MOE HOWARD, show their affection for spunky sexpot MARJORIE WHITE in the 1934 short Woman Haters. In this early Stooges comedy, the buffoons swear off women and marriage by joining the Woman Haters Club. But Larry falls for White's character, marries her and tries to keep the union a secret. Sadly, up-and-coming star White tragically died in a car accident the following year at age 31

Brazil Expedition Uncovers Thousands of Carats of Exquisite Natural Emeralds

Brandish a whopping 50 carats of genuine South American emeralds in a handcrafted new necklace design for less than $100!

Halfway into our ambitious trek through the rain forest I had to remind myself that "Nothing good comes easy." These days it seems that every business trip to Brazil includes a sweltering hike through overgrown jungles, around cascading waterfalls and down steep rock cliffs. But our gem broker insisted it was worth the trouble. To tell you the truth, for the dazzling emeralds he delivered, I'd gladly go back to stomping through jaguar country.

Now our good fortune is your great reward. Don't miss this rare opportunity to own an impressive 50 total carat strand of genuine South American emeralds for under $100.

Faced with this embarrassment of riches, our designer transformed this spectacular cache of large stones (each is over 8 carats average weight) into a stunning 50 total carat necklace of faceted emeralds set into .925 sterling silver. Each emerald is surrounded by delicate sterling silver rope work and filigree in the Bali-style. The 18" necklace dangles from a sterling silver chain that fastens with a secure double-sided shepherd's hook clasp.

What is the source of our emerald's timeless appeal? The enchanting color of the Stauer Carnival Faceted Emerald Necklace comes from nature's chemistry. Our polished and faceted, well-formed natural emeralds are immediately recognized as something special. Indeed, when we evaluated these emeralds, color was the most important quality factor. Today, scientists tell us that the human eye is more sensitive to the color green than to any other. Perhaps that is why green is so soothing to the eye, and why the color green complements every other color in your wardrobe.

Emeralds are, by weight, the most valuable gemstone in the world. Now you can wear genuine emeralds and feel great about knowing that you were able to treat yourself to precious gems without paying a precious price. A top-quality 50 carat emerald necklace found on Rodeo Drive or 5th Avenue could cost well over $100,000...but not from Stauer. Wear and admire the exquisite Stauer Carnival Faceted Emerald Necklace for 60 days. If for any reason you are not dancing the Samba with pure satisfaction after receiving your faceted emerald necklace, simply return it to us for a full refund of the purchase price. But we're confident that when you examine this stunning jewelry, you'll be reminded of the raw beauty of the Amazon rain forests mixed with the flash and dazzle of the exotic Carnival in Rio de Janeiro. Call today! This cache of genuine emeralds is extremely limited.
